NOVELEST PHILLIPS DIES

BULLET FIRED BY VIOLINIST DOES ITS DEADLY WORK.

Diary of Assassin and Suicide Found on Street Shows Hatred for Dead Author.

New York, Jan. 25.—David Graham Phillips, the novelist who was shot down by Fitzhugh Goldsborough, the crazed violinist who afterward killed himself, died at Bellevue hospital. He made a valiant fight for life and, at a time, the surgeons thought he might pull through. Phillips' sister and his brother, Harrison W. Phillips, were with him when he died.

District Attorney Whitman made public the diary that Goldsborough wrote in which the irrational violinist told of his hatred of Phillips. The diary was found in the street at Gramercy park after Goldsborough had shot Phillips and killed himself. At the back of the book are a half dozen or so epigrams, and in the front under date of June 11, 1910, is the following entry:

"A certain happening recently led me to think it advisable to jot down a few lines. I believe David Graham Phillips is trying to make a case against me or do me bodily harm or both. Yesterday afternoon about five o'clock (think) I was sitting in my window when I noticed a pretty woman seated in the second story of the Arts Society building. This woman was about years old or a little more, I should say, and had a large hat. She smiled at me in a pointed manner and first catching sight of me lifted her hand and waved to me. I could quite decide whether this was an arbitrary notion of interest on her part or was meant as a sign of encouragement for me to start flirting with her. I got rather the latter impression. A man was near, half in sight, near the window. I think it was D. G. P., but am by no means sure. I looked steadily at this woman for a few minutes and then glanced away just as the man came to the window to look out. I then kept my eyes away from that window as much as I reasonably could. The woman, however, continued for perhaps a half hour or three quarters of an hour enough longer to sit there and take evident notice of me. I concluded it was Mrs. Frevert, D. G. P.'s sister, and that they were amusing themselves after receipt of my last letter to him and at my expense. But later on I left my house that same woman left here and looked at me fixedly and I don't think it was Mrs. Frevert. Now, why did she make those advances? It occurred to me later that when I flirted with her a claim of my having acted in an annoying way might have been circulated to my detriment. I must be careful of what plans this blackguard may make to injure me. The theory that he is seeking to do so, however, rests on stronger evidence than the mere incident just described."

DECLARES THERE MUST BE NO WAR

TAFT ISSUES PEREMPTORY ORDERS TO AMERICAN MINISTERS AT SAN DOMINGO.

Washington, Jan. 25.—President Taft gave the nations an object lesson in shirt sleeve diplomacy and how the peace of the world can be accomplished. He issued peremptory orders to the American minister at San Domingo that there must be no war between San Domingo and Hayti. This is the first time that such an order has ever gone from the White House. The order is made possible by the fact that the United States, by guaranteeing San Domingo's debt to European nations, made of that republic a protectorate of this government, and conversely gave the United States the power to tell Hayti that she cannot interfere with American political institutions in San Domingo.

The President's Power.
The act of the president with regard to San Domingo and Hayti illustrates what will be the effect of the establishment of the proposed moral and financial protectorate over Honduras. With ten millions of American money invested in Honduras and with the convention recently signed by Secretary Knox and the minister of Honduras, the president can, when the occasion demands, forbid either Guatemala or Nicaragua to attack Honduras and forbid hostilities at any time between Honduras and any Central American state. San Domingo and Hayti have been quarreling for over a year about a frontier line. Both nations armed for the conflict and sent troops to the scene of trouble. The president offered his good offices. There were some perfunctory acknowledgments of the favor, but the armies remained in camp. The following is a close paraphrase of the telegram sent by order of the president to Minister Russell:

Order Sent to Minister.
That as there appears to be in reality no essential difference between the proposal of the Dominican and Haytian governments to reach an amicable adjustment of their present boundary dispute, this government cannot believe that the minor points regarding the maintenance of the status quo and the cessation of the work on the road pending the settlement can be regarded as sufficiently important to warrant any delay whatever in the drawing up of suitable articles for the submission of the matter to arbitration and can far less be regarded as of sufficient importance to warrant any further talk by either party of a resort to arms. The American government therefore feels that the two governments should at once unite in framing a compromise providing for the early adjustment of this question. Meanwhile the status quo should be maintained, troops should be withdrawn from the border and work upon the road should cease until final settlement.

CARNEGIE GIVES HIS VIEWS

Says Fortifying of Panama Canal Is Not Warlike Project, but Purely Defensive.

New York, Jan. 25.—Andrew Carnegie, who sat near President Taft at the Pennsylvania society dinner, when the latter urged the fortification of the Panama canal, gave a statement to the New York correspondent of the Central News of London in which he says in part: "This question of the fortification of the Panama canal is greatly exercising the advocates of international peace, but it is not an international question. No nation disputes our right to fortify, but it is not a warlike project, being purely defensive. These forts, if built, will never fire a shot unless the canal is in danger from an enemy, an enemy which would be the enemy of other nations as well as ours, because injury to the canal would mean serious interference with the world's commerce."

WEDS FOUR TO HELP CHURCH

Woman Admits Multiple Marriages for Money Which She Gives to Religious Work.

Dayton, O., Jan. 25.—Declaring to Deputy Sheriff Lipps of Quincy, Ill., that she married four times to get money in each instance to carry on religious work, Mrs. Henry C. Pete was returned to Illinois. She had been arrested here for multiple marriages, all four of her husbands being alive and protesting. The woman admits giving false names to each of the husbands and says she will show the court officials at Quincy that she only did so to secure money to aid in building up the churches of that city.

CLOSE INTERESTING SESSION

National Merchants' Marine Congress Does Away With Old Divisions Among Advocates.

Washington, Jan. 25.—The National Merchants' Marine convention closed a three days' session here which was one of the most interesting and the most effective in the history of the movement. The old divisions which have heretofore divided the councils of the merchant marine and which have invariably split its advocates and defeated its measures before congress were wiped out in this congress. This spirit was crystallized in the sentiment of one of the speakers that the pen of subsidy should lie down in peace with the lamb of discriminating duties and not a little child, but the American flag should lead them in an irresistible appeal to the law making power of the republic, to re-establish our merchant marine.

BELIEVE LEWIS IS BEATEN

Friends of Iowa Man Claim His Election as Head of United Mine Workers of America.

Columbus, O., Jan. 25.—After suffering three defeats on the floor of the convention President T. L. Lewis through his friends, practically admitted that he had been defeated for re-election. The Lewis men referred to themselves as the minority. It is now expected that the report of the tellers will be submitted today or the next day and will show President Lewis defeated by John P. White of Okaloosa, Ia. The White men claim that he has been elected by 40,000 while an unofficial report says that Lewis has been beaten by 22,000.

KETCHEL MURDERERS GUILTY

Man and Woman, Accused of Causing Pugilist's Death, Are Held by Jury.

Mashfield, Mo., Jan. 25.—Guilty of first degree murder was the verdict returned by the jury in the case of Walter A. Dibley and Goldie Smith, charged with the murder of Stanley Ketchel, pugilist. Sentences of life imprisonment were recommended. Stanley Ketchel was shot October 15, on the ranch of R. P. Dickerson, near Conway, Mo., by Walter A. Dibley, who under the name of Walter A. Hurs, was employed as a farm hand, Goldie Smith, charged with complicity, was employed as a cook.

VALUABLE GEMS ARE STOLEN

Jewels Belonging to Mrs. William K. Thaw, Jr., and Valued at $35,000 and $50,000 Taken.

Pittsburg, Jan. 25.—The entire collection of jewels of Mrs. William K. Thaw, Jr., valued at $35,000 and $50,000 in money, were stolen from a steel lined closet in her home while the family was at dinner in the evening. The closet was opened by a false key and the police suspect that one of the servants, a man who posed as a French "maid," and who left the house some time ago, planned and executed the robbery. One of the articles stolen was a two strand necklace of matched pearls, valued at $17,000.
